Privacy Policy Summary: Contact form allows us to collect your name and email address, along with your comment submission. Contact form names, email addresses and submissions are kept for a certain period (about 3 months) for customer service purposes, but we do not use the information submitted through the contact form for marketing purposes. We don't share any personally identifying information publicly or with third-parties, except when required to by law. Information such as IP addresses are monitored and collected by some plugin services for the purpose of website performance, virus and spam detection and website protection for a safe visiting experience.
